FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Ohio State has more problems and uncertainties this year than in any of the 14 previous seasons that Coach Woody Hayes has been at the helm. Never, during Woody's regime, have so many lineup positions been in doubt.

Graduation, injuries and ineligibilities have taken a heavy toll of manpower. Last year's freshman team, originally only 17 on tender, now has dwindled to 12.

There are 21 lettermen returning, with 14 players on offense and only seven on defense. It is in the latter department, defense, that most of the problems arise. The defensive unit will have six inexperienced starters.

On offense the Buckeyes appear well set at quarterback, where Don Unverferth, a two-year regular, and sophomores Arnold Fontes and Paul Walker are available.

Unverferth is the best passer on the squad and moves the team well. Fontes may become a starter because of his running ability. Quick and clever, Fontes can restore the option and rollout plays to the Buckeye attack. Walker, severely handicapped by a two-year absence from football because of injuries, throws a soft, easy-to-catch pass.

Injuries and an ineligibility have played havoc at left halfback. Rudy Hubbard, the likely starter, underwent a knee operation May 12, and his availability this fall is doubtful. Dave Reynolds, who figured to push Hubbard as a starter, lost to the books, while Bob Lykes, another hopeful, has played only two games in two years because of injuries.

This predicament may force "Bo" Rein from right to left halfback. Rein was the second leading ground gainer and the top pass receiver on the team last year. Although small, he hits hard and has a deceptive running style. Another possibility would be to return Tom Barrington to left half, a position he played last year.

If Rein moves to left halfback, Will Thomas will start at right half. The speedy Thomas is a good blocker and fine pass receiver. He has break-away potential.

Fullback has been beefed up by the moving of Barrington to this post. Some 14 pounds lighter and considerably faster, Barrington is the most versatile back on the squad.

Last year's regular, Will Sander, is back. He lugged the ball 147 times for an impressive 4.2 average and led the team in scoring. At third fullback is Paul Hudson, who has good speed and power, but was hampered with injuries in 1964.

In the offensive line, Greg Lashutka and Bob Walden will start at ends. Lashutka, a fine target with sure hands, is a solid blocker. Walden has a variety of moves to get open. John Palmer, a fine blocker, is available at tight end.

Dick Anderson, a reserve last year, will start at left tackle, with Dick Himes, the top sophomore line prospect, on the right side. Both have the size and determination to be good tackles. Himes, with unusual agility and quickness, could be a standout. Depth will come from Mike Current, a 1964 reserve, who may play both sides this year, and sophomore Paul Fender, who has fine potential.

Veteran Doug Van Horn has been moved to right guard, while Ted Andrick, a 1964 regular, will start at left guard.

Van Horn adds blocking ability and strength to the guard position. Andrick, with good quickness, is a steady player. Bill Eachus, a junior, will be a "swing" man on offense.

Ray Pryor, a left guard last year, has been moved to center. Quick and strong, Pryor is the biggest center Ohio State has had in many years.

The Buckeyes have three standout players on defense; linebackers Dwight "Ike" Kelley and Tom Bugel and middle guard Bill Ridder. This talented trio will rank favorably with any similar threesome in collegiate football.

Kelley, a unanimous All-American last year, is as fierce a tackler as the Buckeyes have had. Bugel, his talented counterpart, has good speed and excellent lateral movement. With Kelley and Bugel playing, Ohio State's linebacking will be brilliant. Depth will come from Bob Johnson and Bob Newcomer, both rugged, versatile athletes.

Ridder has given Ohio State the finest play at middle guard in many years. Strong, with fine body balance, he plays with a rare determination and zeal.

Experienced Gary Miller and sophomore Don Dwyer are probable starters at tackle. Miller has been moved to the left side while Dwyer had a good freshman year in 1964. Neither is big, but both have savvy and desire. Mark Green is another fine prospect. He could become a starter with more consistency. "Laddy" Burgin, slow to develop last year, will add much-needed depth to the tackle posts. Larry Snyder, a small but scrappy athlete, will help at tackle or guard.

Coach Hayes has moved Kim Anderson, a light but aggressive player, from guard to defensive end. Mike Orazen has been promoted to a regular status at the other end. Anderson has quickness and agility, while Orazen is more of a strong, smashing end. Charles Knight and Jim Baas, both converted linebackers, will supply reserve strength.

John McCoy, an offensive fullback in 1964, will be used as a corner man. McCoy should be fully recovered from a knee operation last March. He has the necessary speed and thrives on contact. Sander is in reserve.

In the deep defense, the three starters will be selected from four athletes; John Fill, Jim Nein, Stan Hamlin and Tom Portsmouth. The first two are lettermen, the second duo sophomores. Fill will start at left halfback while Hamlin has a slight nod on the right side. Portsmouth, who can help Ohio State at four positions, figures to start at safety. Nein, another Buckeye recovering from a knee operation, will spell any of the three deep backs.

Place kicking is strong as specialist Bob Funk returns. He kicked seven field goals and 17 of 18 extra points last year. Barrington or Gary Cairns could be called upon should Funk be injured. The punting chores will be handled by Barrington.

With experienced personnel at a premium, numerous position changes had to be made. Depth is a problem, as talent is spread dangerously thin at many spots. The offense must assume most of the load, at least early in the season, while the inexperienced defense has a chance to mature. Some changes will be made in the offense. The schedule is demanding and the outlook—uncertain.

THE DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS—RICHARD C. LARKINS

Richard C. Larkins

Richard C. Larkins has served as Director of the Men's and Women's Physical Education Departments and of the vast intercollegiate athletic program at Ohio State University since 1946. During this time he has taken an active role in the administration and conduct of intercollegiate athletics in the Western Conference and in the N.C.A.A. Larkins has served on numerous national committees devoted to the betterment of intercollegiate athletics.

Through his guidance as director of athletics the Ohio State University intercollegiate program has been expanded to the present 15 sports. Even more apparent is the expansion and growth of the athletic plant. Ohio State has added the beautiful 13,497 seat St. John Arena, considered the finest site for basketball in the nation. The French Field House was built in 1957 to provide facilities for indoor track, baseball practice, and physical education usage. A new baseball park will be opened in the Spring of 1966 and varsity tennis courts resurfaced. The most recent sport to be added to the intercollegiate program is ice hockey, named a varsity sport for the 1963-64 season. The Ice Rink was opened in September, 1961.

Larkins is a firm believer in the value of intercollegiate athletics, adroitly administered and kept in its proper perspective in the college curriculum.

He is a graduate of Ohio State University with a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1931 and a master's degree in commerce in 1935.

As an undergraduate, "Dick" was a standout athlete. He was a tackle on the Buckeye football teams of 1928, '29 and '30, and was a regular guard on the basketball team for three years. He won six letters in two sports. His leadership qualities were evident as he was president of his senior class in college. Larkins was named to Bucket and Dipper and to Sphinx, junior and senior honorary societies.

He was a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary fraternity, and of Phi Delta Theta, social farternity. As a senior he received Ohio State University's Western Conference Scholarship Medal for combined excellence in scholarship and athletic achievement.

Following graduation, Larkins joined the Ohio State athletic staff in the fall of 1931, serving as freshman football coach for five years. In 1936 he went to the University of of Rochester as head football coach, but returned to Ohio State the following year in the teacher training program. A guiding force in the N.C.A.A., Larkins now serves on the Executive Committee of the N.C.A.A. and also on the N.C.A.A. Olympic Committee. He currently is chairman of the U.S. Olympic Development Committee.

"Dick" and his wife, Eileen, have two children, Richard Jr. and Sally, both married.

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH—W. W. "WOODY" HAYES

W. W. 'Woody' Hayes

The man most responsible for Ohio State University's brilliant football record the past 14 years is Wayne Woodrow "Woody" Hayes. Under Woody's guidance, Ohio State football has reached a degree of excellence never before attained in the school's history.

Hayes' 14 year record at Ohio State shows 90 wins, only 31 losses and seven ties, for a winning percentage of .744, excluding ties. Only in 1959 has one of his Ohio State teams lost more than three games a season.

Numerous honors have been won by Coach Hayes and by his Ohio State football teams. At Ohio State, Hayes has been named, "College Coach of the Year in 1957," and was runnerup for this honor in 1954; won four outright Western Conference championships; won two national championships and was runnerup a third time; won 17 consecutive Big Ten victories (1954-56), to establish a conference record; won two Rose Bowl games in as many appearances; was head coach of the winning East team (29-6) in the 1955 Shrine Game in San Francisco. Hayes is past president of the "College Football Coaches' Association."

Woody's emphasis upon power football has had a profound influence on Ohio high school and college football trends. His system, a blend of the split-T and the straight-T offenses, features a powerful running attack and stout defensive teams. For the past six seasons, Ohio State has added split ends, slot backs and an unbalanced line attack.

Hayes was born February 14, 1913, at Clifton, Ohio, although he calls Newcomerstown his home. He is a 1935 graduate of Denison University, where he majored in English and history. He played tackle three years and was an outfielder in baseball. He has a M.A. degree in education administration from Ohio State University.

Woody has served as a head coach 22 years; three in high school at New Philadelphia, Ohio, and 19 years in college— three at Denison, two at Miami and 14 at Ohio State. His high school record was 19 wins, ten losses and one tie, while his college record reads 123 victories, 42 defeats and seven ties. Five of his teams have gone undefeated, once in high school and four times in college.

The Buckeye coach has unusual devotion to football. A tireless worker who has his players' best interests at heart, he is respected by his staff and players for his honest, workmanlike approach to football. His insistence upon flawless execution of details and meticulous pre-game preparation have paid handsome dividends, for Ohio State teams have played the best football against the top opponents. Upsets, come-from-behind victories, and tension packed, emotional games have been annual events at Ohio State under Hayes.

Woody and his wife, Anne, have a son, Steve, a junior at Ohio State.

ASSISTANT FOOTBALL COACHES

ESCO SARKKINEN—Ends

Esco Sarkkinen

Esco Sarkkinen has been a member of the Ohio State University football coaching staff since 1946. "Sark" is starting his 20th season as varsity end coach and is in charge of the scouting program.

Sarkkinen is an extremely valuable member of the Buckeye staff. His vast football knowledge, coupled with a keen analytical mind, plus years of experience, ideally suit him for coaching in the Big Ten.

Sarkkinen has a working knowledge of proper techniques to be used in good end play. He played college football at Ohio State in 1937, '38 and '39, winning All-America honors with the 1939 championship team.

A firm believer in the coaching value of movies, "Sark" spends countless hours studying films, analyzing blocking techniques, fakes, footwork, body balance and the like, in order to evaluate his personnel. Buckeye ends are traditionally well-schooled in offensive and defensive techniques.

A native of Fairport Harbor, Ohio, Sarkkinen graduated in 1940 from Ohio State. He served as athletic director at Lancaster, Ohio, High School in 1940 and 1941, coaching a championship football team the latter year. In July, 1942, he entered the Coast Guard and served for four years.

LOUIS G. McCULLOUGH—Defensive Coordinator

Louis G. McCullough

Louis G. "Lou" McCullough joined the varsity football coaching staff of Ohio State University in April, 1963. Prior to this, McCullough had an extensive 14-year period as football assistant at four colleges and universities, during which time he coached all positions both on offense and defense at one time or another. In addition, he has considerable experience in administrative, scouting and recruiting duties.

McCullough is a native of Florence, Alabama. He attended Georgia Military and Wofford College. His degree from Wofford in 1949 was a B.A. in education and psychology. He has a M.A. from Columbia.

McCullough began his coaching career at Wofford College in 1949 immediately following his graduation. He was assistant to Phil Dickens at Wofford for four years.

When Dickens was named head coach at the University of Wyoming in 1953, McCullough accompanied him. The pair continued their association for a ninth successive year, 1957, when they went to Indiana University.

In 1958 McCullough went to Iowa State for a five-year period. At Ohio State Lou is in charge of the recruiting program as well as defensive coordinator.

LYAL CLARK—Defensive Line

Lyal Clark

Lyal Clark, a veteran of 34 college football seasons, is one of the most respected line coaches in the nation. During his extensive coaching career, Clark has coached all phases of football, but prefers to work with the line.

He serves as defensive line coach at Ohio State University, a position he has held for the past 11 years. It is no coincidence that since 1954, when Clark rejoined the Buckeye football staff, Ohio State has had consistently fine defensive teams.

Clark is a native of Sidney, Nebraska. A 1929 graduate of Western Maryland College, he played football there for three years.

Clark started coaching in 1929 as line coach at Baltimore University. Later he served as line coach at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Western Maryland and Delaware. In 1935, he was named head coach at Delaware and served three years.

In 1938, Clark accompanied his close friend Dick Harlow to Harvard, as line coach. He remained there until 1946, save for a 33-month hitch in the Navy. While at Harvard, Clark introduced new thoughts on blocking assignments in the unbalanced line, single-wing attack.

In 1946, he became line coach at Pittsburgh under Wes Fesler and when Fesler came to Ohio State in 1947, Clark accompanied him. Clark left Ohio State with Fesler to go to Minnesota in 1951, where he remained until rejoining the Buckeye staff in 1954.

HARRY L. STROBEL—Guards and Centers

Harry L. Strobel

Harry L. Strobel has been a member of the Ohio State coaching staff since the spring of 1949. First serving under Wes Fesler, Strobel was freshman football and basketball coach. In 1951, when Woody Hayes became head football coach, Strobel was moved to the varsity staff, working with the guards and centers on offense.

Prior to coming to Ohio State, Strobel established an excellent coaching record in Ohio high schools. He was named Ohio's "Coach of the Year" in 1947, when his Barberton team won the state championship. He holds the distinction of winning the Ohio Class "A" basketball championship while at Bellevue in 1945. Strobel and Floyd Stahl, current assistant athletic director at Ohio State, are the only two coaches to win state championships in football and basketball.

Strobel was born in Massillon, Ohio. He graduated from high school in 1927 and entered Miami University where he graduated in 1932. At Miami, Strobel won six letters, three in football, two in baseball and one in basketball.

HUGH HINDMAN—Tackles

Hugh Hindman

Hugh Hindman joined the Ohio State University football staff April 1, 1963. Hindman became the fifth assistant coach who played for Woody Hayes at Miami in 1949 or 1950 to be selected for a position on the Buckeye staff.

Hindman is a native of Columbus, Ohio, graduating from North High School in 1945. In high school he was a single wing quarterback.

Hugh entered Miami University in 1946 and played varsity football that year as freshman were eligible. Throughout college Hindman played guard.

Hugh graduated from Miami in the spring of 1950 with a B.S. degree in education. He began his coaching career in September of 1950, as head football coach at Grandview High in Columbus. After three years he moved to Columbus North for five successful seasons, winning City League championships in 1956 and '57. He coached the South All-Stars to an upset 26-0 victory over a favored North squad in 1957.

In 1958, Hindman went to Ohio University, serving as offensive line coach. After five winning seasons at the Athens, Ohio school, Hugh came to Ohio State, where he works with the tackles on offense and devotes considerable time to recruiting.

Hindman and his wife, Nancy, a graduate of Ohio State, have two daughters.

MAX URICK—Defensive Backfield

Max Urick

Max Urick became associated with the Ohio State University football staff during spring practice of 1963. His duties with the varsity coaching staff are with the deep defense, scouting and counseling.

Urick is a native of Troy, Ohio, where he won All-Ohio honors as a center. He attended Ohio Wesleyan University and won numerous honors as an athlete. He was an All-Ohio Conference center and linebacker for three-years and twice was the recipient of the "Mike Gregory Award," given to hte outstanding lineman in the Ohio Conference. In 1960, his senior year. Urick was named to the "Little All-American Team" at center.

Aside from football he wrestled for one year, winning the 167-pound conference championship. He played lacrosse three years and as a senior, played in the national All-Star game.

In 1961 Urick joined the football coaching staff at the United States Military Academy as assistant freshman coach and varsity scout. In 1962 under Paul Dietzel, Urick continued to serve as varsity scout as well as work with the freshman backs.

LARRY CATUZZI—Offensive Backfield

Larry Catuzzi

Larry Catuzzi works with the offensive backs. An all-state quarterback at East Rutherford, New Jersey High School for two years, Catuzzi starred at the University of Delaware in 1955, '56 and '57. At Delaware he learned the winged-T offense so ably coached by Dave Nelson.

Following his graduation from Delaware in 1958, Catuzzi remained at his alma mater for two years, working with the freshmen.

In 1960 Catuzzi served as backfield coach at the University of Dayton. The following year, 1961, he joined the staff at Indiana University as assistant backfield coach. Much of his time was devoted to the development of quarterbacks. He had remarkable success in this assignment at Indiana, as Catuzzi converted defensive backs in 1961 and 1962 and a reserve in 1963, into polished offensive quarterbacks who connected on over 50 per cent of the passes each year.

Catuzzi joined the Ohio State football staff in February, 1965. In addition to helping quarterbacks, he will work with the offensive backfield as a unit.

The personable young Delaware graduate will assume considerable recruiting duties at Ohio State.

Catuzzi is married and he and his wife Barbara, have two daughters, Dara and Lauren.

GLENN "TIGER" ELLISON—Freshman Coach

Glenn 'Tiger' Ellison

Glenn Ellison joined the Ohio State University football coaching staff February 15, 1963 after compiling an excellent record of 127 wins, 45 defeats and seven ties at Middletown High School. Mr. Ellison serves as head freshman coach and counselor at Ohio State.

Mr. Ellison is a native of Middletown, Ohio, graduating from high school there. He attended Denison University, graduating in 1933, with a major in English. In September of 1933, he returned to Middletown High School, serving as assistant coach in football and basketball and head track coach. He also taught English and physical education. In 1945 he became head football coach, a position he held for 18 years before joining the Ohio State athletic staff.

Mr. Ellison was named "Ohio High School Coach of the Year" in 1961. In 1950 and again in 1962 he was president of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association. He twice served as head coach of the South All-Stars and on two other occasions was an assistant coach. During his 18 years as head coach, he developed eight All-Ohio quarterbacks.

Mr. Ellison has an M.A. degree from Xavier University in counseling and guidance.

FACTS ABOUT OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

From a humble beginning in 1873 of 24 students, educated and housed in a single building, The Ohio State University has become one of the nation's leading universities.

The school might have been located elsewhere, except for the persistent efforts of Joseph Sullivant, a native of Columbus, and Franklin County generosity. On the fifth ballot, the Ohio Legislature, in 1870, selected a plot of land on Neil farm to be the site of the Ohio Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Columbus was then a city of 35,000, and extended north only slightly past Union Station. The site was chosen because "it was far enough removed from the city of Columbus that the study habits of the young men could not be interfered with by contact with city life." In 1878 the name was changed to The Ohio State University.

Ohio State has enjoyed remarkable growth, as it now ranks ninth among all universities in the nation in full-time enrollment and eleventh in total enrollment. In addition to its extensive undergraduate program, Ohio State is now a nationally recognized center for research and graduate work. A total of 145,064 degrees have been granted to students spread throughout the world.

There are now 89 departments of instruction, divided among 10 colleges, a graduate school and 10 special schools. The colleges are: Agriculture and Home Economics, Arts and Sciences, Commerce and Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Pharmacy and Veterinary Medicine. The special schools are those of Architecture, Aviation, Art, Home Economics, Journalism, Music, Nursing, Optometry, Social Work, and Part-Time and Continuing Education. The current faculty numbers 3,101.

Ohio State has a campus of 2,790 acres, including 410 acres east of the Olentangy River, comprising the campus proper. West of the river are found a modern farm, a 634-acre airport, two 18-hole golf courses, a television station, and eventually will be the home of the College of Agriculture and College of Veterinary Medicine. New buildings to house these colleges are now under construction.

There are over 120 permanent major buildings and the total value of The Ohio State University plant is $185,000,000.

The magnificent Health Center comprises nine buildings, five of which have been constructed since 1948. A "showplace" on the campus is the ultra-modern Ohio Union, opened in the fall of 1951 and erected at a cost of over $4,000,000. The beautiful new Mershon Auditorium, the St. John Arena and the French Field House were dedicated during the 1956-57 school year. The University has embarked upon an enormous dormitory project, which ultimately will house 14,400 students at a cost of $60,000,000.

The enrollment reached a peak of 25,403 in the autumn of 1947. It dipped to a postwar low of 17,432 but has increased steadily to 32,200 in the autumn of 1964.

A new phase of University education was launched when "branches" of Ohio State University were opened in Newark and Marion in 1957, Mansfield in 1958, Lima in 1960, Lakewood in 1962, and Dayton in 1965.

THE OHIO STADIUM

After Ohio State University joined the Western Conference in 1913, interest in football increased to the point that old Ohio Field, with its 14,000 capacity, was unable to accommodate the crowds. Pressure for a larger stadium mounted with Buckeye championships in 1916 and 1917.

World War I temporarily arrested the growing desire for a new stadium, but in 1919 University athletic officials laid plans for a dream structure.

In October, 1920, the Stadium campaign was waged. Committees were organized to arouse interest in the project. University people, Columbus residents and alumni and friends of Ohio State University spread throughout the land supported the cause. Everyone had the Ohio State spirit. More than 13,000 people pledged gifts totaling $1,083,000.

Thus Ohio Stadium, envisoned in 1915 by the late Prof. Thomas E. French, and nurtured by the late L. W. St. John, director of athletics, became a reality.

Construction began in August, 1921, and by September, 1922, the structure was virtually completed, a gigantic task finished in 13 months. The construction cost was $1,341,000 and the original capacity was 66,210. A crowd of 71,385, largest at the time in mid-west history, watched the dedication game with Michigan, October 21, 1922.

The Ohio Stadium has unusual design. It is a double-decked, horseshoe-shaped structure, with towers on each of the open ends. The circumference is one-third of a mile and the ground area is 10 acres. The Stadium is 752 feet long and 596 feet wide and the height of the back wall is 98 feet.

There are 56 stairways, 12 ramps and 112 aisles feeding 81 exits. A capacity crowd can clear the Stadium in seven minutes. As many as 2,000 employees are needed to handle the large crowds.

Temporary field bleachers and south stands have added additional seats and minor changes have taken place within the Stadium itself to raise the present capacity to 81,109.

Dormitories, an elevator and a modern press box have enhanced the Ohio Stadium without materially changing its appearance or altering its architectural motif.

With the conclusion of the 1964 season, 14,060,797 people had watched the 236 football games during the 43 years of its existence. The Ohio Stadium has become a symbol, not only of Ohio State athletics, but of the University itself.
